Good sleep, good health

Good sleep, good health

Eight out of ten people suffer from back problems at some time in their lives. A direct contributor to this is poor posture and support whilst sleeping.

Specifically designed to combat these problems, Kaymed Health beds have been designed with the assistance and co-operation of the International Chiropractors Association. They feature innovative technologies, including flexi-coil, multi-lastic springing, and our unique edge support system working together to support weight evenly.

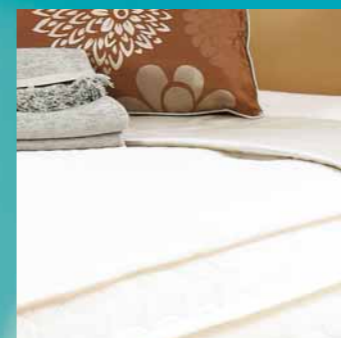

The result is a range of beds that provide an exceptional combination of luxurious comfort, optimal support and long-term durability, resulting in better quality, restorative sleep, every night.
